

Step 1: Open iLok License Manager

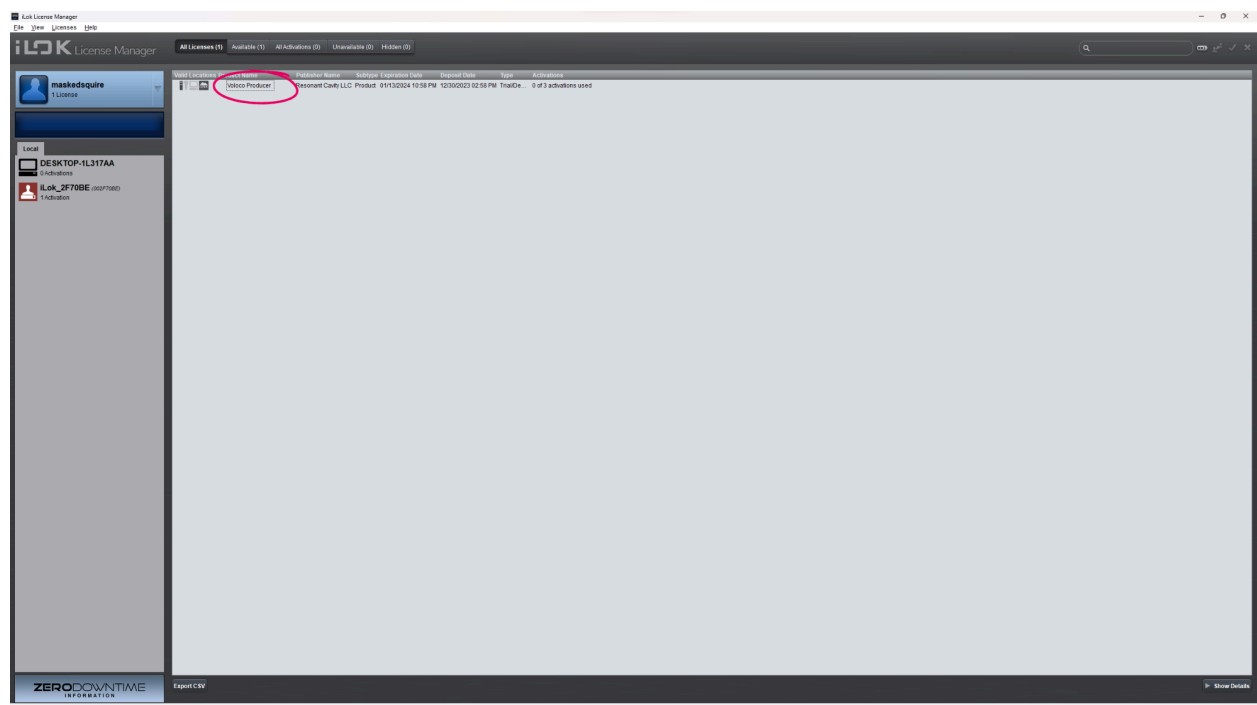

After finishing the registration process on the website, open the iLok License Manager application on your Windows machine. If you do not have the application installed, you can find it here: <https://www.ilok.com/#!/license-manager>.

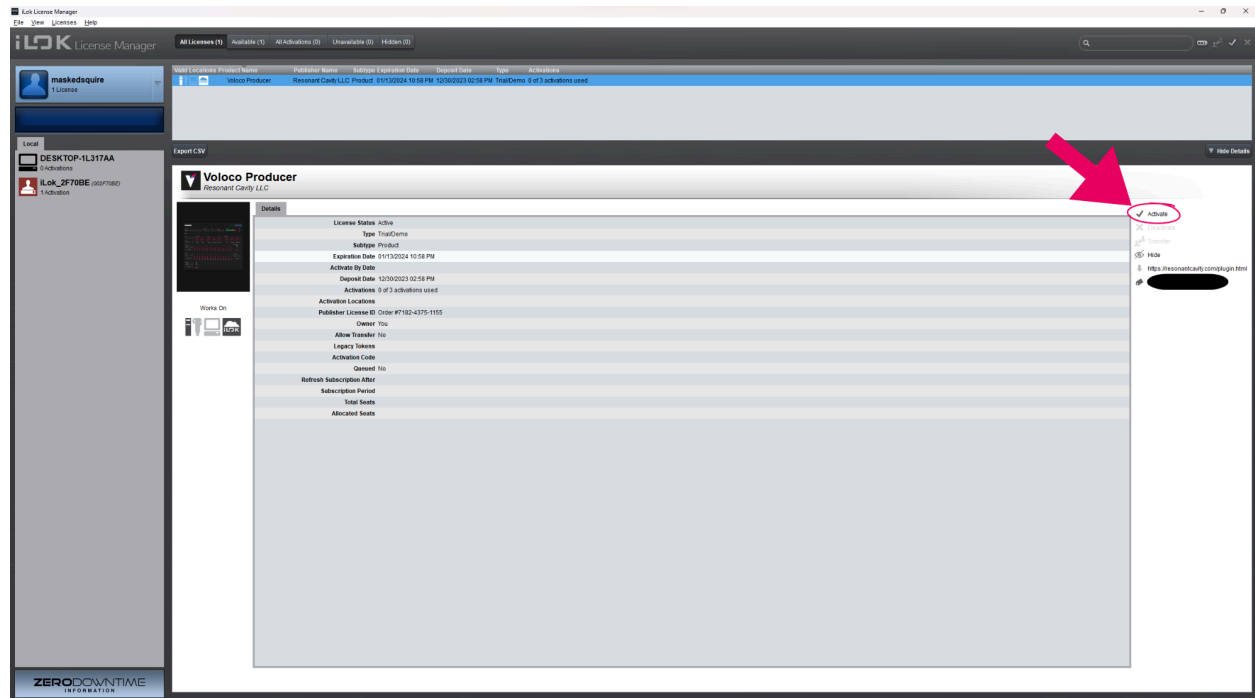

Step 2: Sign into the iLok Application

Click the “Sign in” button in the screen's top left corner and log into your iLok account. Be sure you log in with the iLok account you entered when registering for the plugin. If you did not have an iLok account before registering, the beginning of the registration process should have had you create one to proceed.

After signing in, your plugin license for Voloco Producer appears in your account, as seen below.

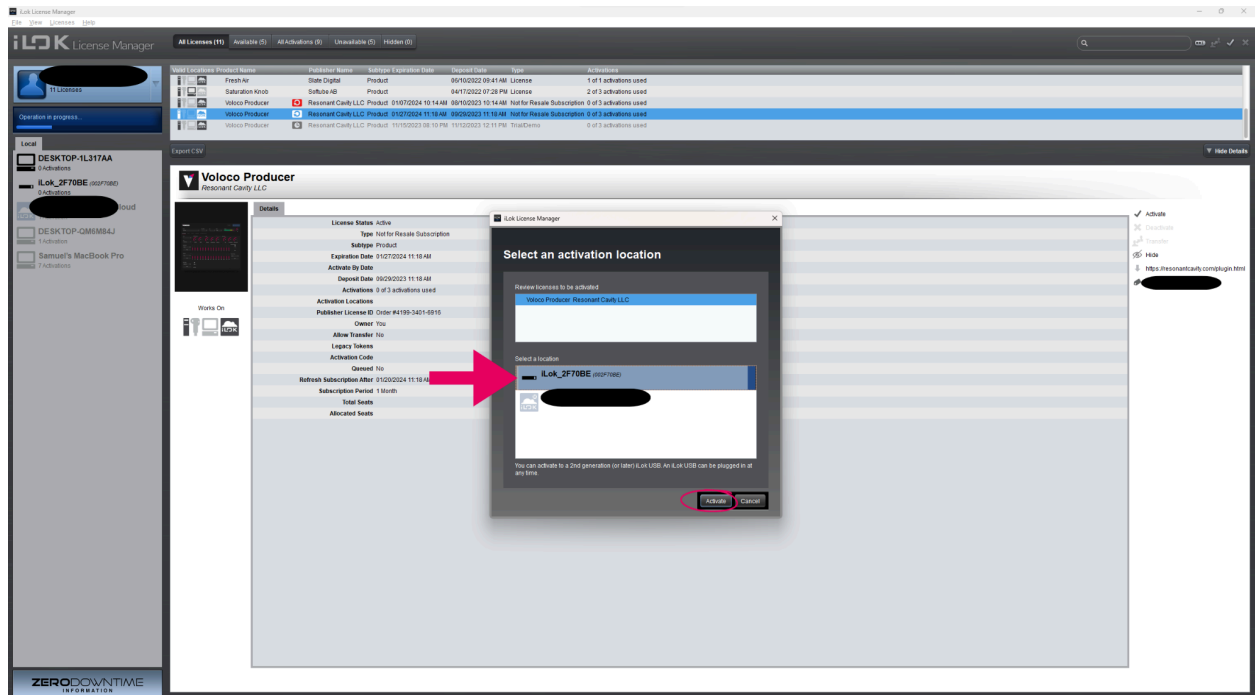

Step 3: Begin License Activation

If your license for Voloco Producer appears, click it and select “Activate.”

If it does not appear in your account and you have checked that you are signed in with the correct iLok account, please contact plugin.support@resonantcavity.com for assistance.

We will now go over activating your license using an iLok USB key. If you do not have an iLok USB, skip to step 4b.

Step 4a: Activating License on an iLok USB Key:

If you are using an iLok USB key, first ensure that it has been registered to your iLok account and plugged into your machine. You should see the iLok key's serial number appear when selecting an activation location. Make sure the iLok key is highlighted and select "Activate."

If you do not see your iLok key appear as an activation location or it's not being recognized by the iLok License Manager application, your machine may not be detecting it. For help with iLok key issues, please reach out to iLok support.

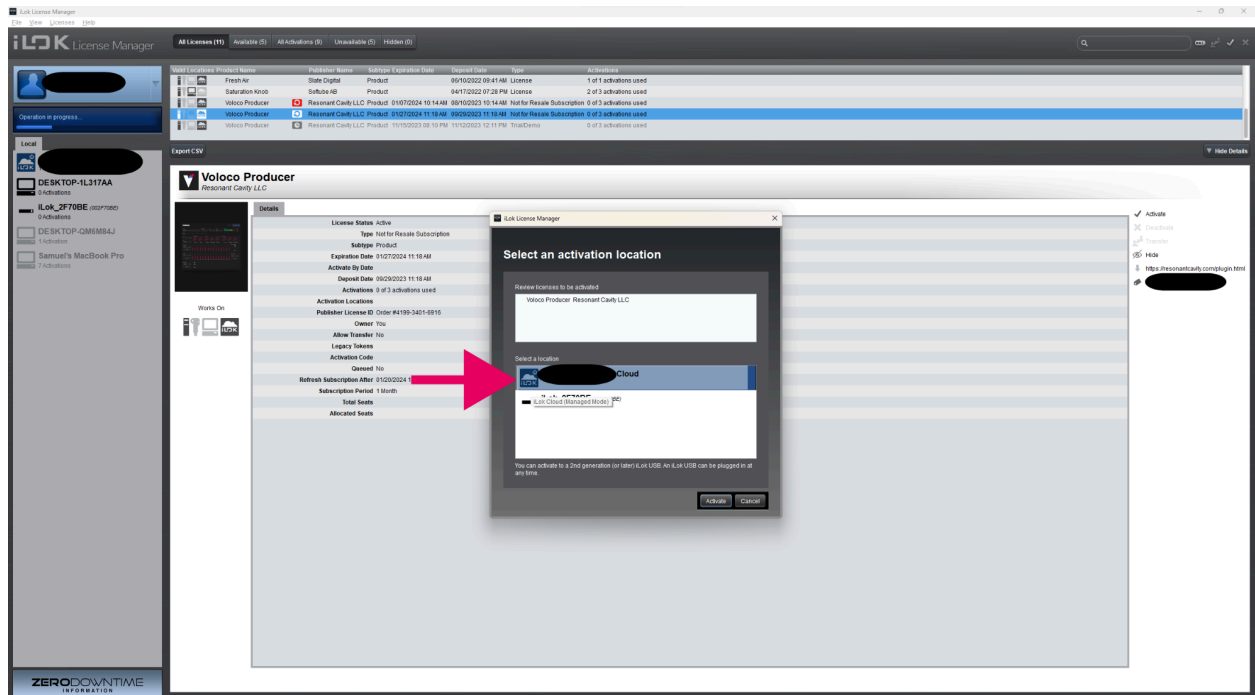

https://help.ilok.com/faq_home.html

You can now run the Voloco Producer plugin in your favorite DAW! Please remember that your iLok USB key must remain plugged into your machine to use the plugin.

Step 4b: Activating License with iLok Cloud:

If you do not have an iLok USB key, cancel the activation process, head to “File” and select “Open Your Cloud Session.” This will create an iLok Cloud session for your iLok account.

Step 5: Activate License onto Cloud Session

Now that your cloud session is open, repeat step 3. You should see your cloud session appear as an activation location. Make sure the cloud session is highlighted and select “Activate.”

You can now run the Voloco Producer plugin in your favorite DAW! Please remember that an iLok Cloud Session must be open on your machine to use the plugin.